EMERGENCY PROCEDURE

Announcements will be preceded by a distinctive two-toned signal. In the event of an emergency evacuation we will ask all spectators to listen very carefully to the public address announcements which will direct you to the evacuation route you should take.

An evacuation may concern one or more stands in the Stadium. If the evacuation does not affect your stand, please remain where you are unless directed otherwise.

Please respond quickly, but calmly, to the announcements and to the requests of the Stewards and Police Officers to ensure a safe evacuation of the Stadium.

IMPORTANT NOTICE

The Players, Directors and Staff of Bolton Wanderers Football Club wish to make clear our abhorrence of all forms of discrimination.

Any fans who are caught abusing players or fans because of their race, gender, age, disability, religious belief or sexual orientation will face arrest and may be prosecuted.

Bolton Wanderers celebrates diversity and asks you to support your club. Should you encounter any form of this unacceptable behaviour please email the club at feedback@bwfc.co.uk

IMPORTANT SAFETY NOTICE

In order to comply with Football League safety directives, Bolton Wanderers must ensure that supporters remain seated during matches.

Supporters from both sides are therefore asked to refrain from standing for long periods of the game, it spoils it for others around you, and is a safety hazard. Everyone wants to enjoy themselves, but please understand the club's priority is to ensure the safety and well being of all spectators.

THE MANAGER

DOUGIE FREEDMAN

The seven days that ended with our recent game against Barnsley were unequalled in terms of points gained this season.

The three wins in a week has left us with high hopes of a strong finish. We are hitting form right now, which is a little unfortunate as the season begins to draw to a close.

We've found ourselves trying to put our finger on exactly why we began the season as we did. It has been the subject of many hours of deliberation, analysis and debate and we're determined not to let it happen again next season.

The conclusion of many hours of analytical work brought us to the conclusion that certain personnel were not focussed enough in taking the club forward. We have all seen certain changes from the first 12 games of the season to our most recent 12 games, and we're in no doubt that we have worked well and have recruited the right players to move us forward.

We will be doing our utmost to make those players a permanent part of the squad for next season. That will give us the answers to our questions and we're confident it will set us up for a good start next season.

Naturally, in the summer, some players will leave and some players will arrive. I'm confident that within our recruitment process we'll once again get it right. We're now recruiting at the right age and the potential we have will see us mount a challenge right from the get go.

This season is by no means finished. Usually, if you finish one season on a good run you're able to pick that up for the start of the next one.

People will point to the way we ended last season and started this one, but in actual fact we only won one of our last four games at the end of last season. We're determined to finish with a run of consecutive wins, starting with tonight's game.

I'd like to take this opportunity to welcome the players, staff, board members and supporters of Leicester City. We'd like to offer our congratulations to Nigel Pearson and his side on achieving promotion to the Premier League.

Due to Easter printing deadlines, at the time of writing we are yet to face Charlton at The Valley, but hopefully we are coming into today's game having maintained our unbeaten run.

Floodlit games at the Reebok always have a unique atmosphere. Once again, it would be great if the fans can reproduce an atmosphere that will help spur the players on in what will no doubt be a challenging game.

Enjoy the game and thank you for the support.

BWFC JUNIORS CELEBRATE

Young supporters packed into the Reebok Stadium's Premier Suite last Tuesday evening for the club's annual BWFC Juniors End of Season Party.

Fans were given the opportunity to meet and greet the first team squad, with musical entertainment, inflatables and party dances on offer throughout the evening.

There were also exclusive raffles prizes won, while Lofty the Lion was on hand to oversee proceedings.

The youngsters were then asked for their votes in various categories, with Lukas Jutkiewicz scooping the BWFC Juniors Player of the Year accolade, while Jay Spearing's strike against Blackburn Rovers was named as the Goal of the Season.

The team were also rewarded for their display in the recent 5-1 victory at Elland Road against Leeds United with the Best Team Performance of the Season award.

THESKIPPER

ZATKNIGHT

For us as we head towards the final few games of the season, it is paramount that we don't allow ourselves to let to finish with a whimper.

In our last home game against Barnsley, there were quite a few changes made to the team but those players that came in did exceptionally well and ground out a hard earned victory against a very difficult side.

Games like that are proof of the strength in depth that we have at this football club – we have such talented players, some of which aren't making the starting eleven on a regular basis, and that is testament to how much we can offer as a unit.

We knew that it was going to be a tough game because they are fighting for their lives and the past few matches that we've had against them have been testing ones.

We did unfortunately concede a penalty, but like in recent weeks, luck was on our side and Chris O'Grady wasn't able to convert it.

It seems that we're finally getting the rub of the green in games – at the start of the season, we felt like certain things weren't falling for us, but at the moment confidence and morale is high amongst the squad.

We don't want to let the season peter out though. We want to finish as strongly as we can and we have three games in which to do so, starting this evening against Leicester City.

It definitely going to be a test for us tonight – they've already won promotion and deservedly so, but we need to put that to one side and concentrate on going out there and giving our all in a bid to end the season on a high.

They have been the best team in the league this season without a doubt and definitely the best that we've played. We certainly gave them a run for their money when we played them back in December – there's not many teams that will score three away from home in any game and come away empty handed.

Attacking wise, they were lethal that day and they've proven that time and time again throughout the season, so we will have to be at our best tonight.

We'll definitely be taking inspiration from our home form since the turn of the year – we've only lost twice on home soil since Christmas and we want to carry that on to the end of the season and beyond.

Ultimately, it's going to be a test of our character and it's a match that could prove to be very important as we head into the final few games as we try and push our way into the top half of the table.

This season has definitely been a learning curve for us all – when it is finished, it's going to be a case of looking back and asking ourselves what we could have done differently.

It is imperative that we don't allow ourselves to get complacent ahead of the new season in August – we didn't have the greatest start to the current campaign and that is what has ultimately cost us in the long run.

It isn't nice to think of what could have been, but there is no point in dwelling on what has already gone. It's been a year which we can definitely take lessons from and we'll come back stronger for it next season.

Thank you for your continued support and I hope we can send you all home happy this evening.

Enjoy the game

NEWS BOARD

BACK TO SCHOOL FOR MASON

Joe Mason paid a visit to Canon Slade School prior to the conclusion of his recent loan deal to offer advice to a group of local students.

The 22-year-old striker attended a workshop with youngsters who are currently partaking in the club's newly established BTEC Level 3 Extended Diploma in Sport (Performance & Excellence Pathway). A link between Bolton Wanderers and Canon Slade which was formed earlier this year, the pupils are currently undertaking units across sport science with a view to progressing onto Higher Education at university.

Mason himself spent time with the students, offering advice and providing an insight into the lifestyle of a footballer in regards to nutrition and how a player's diet can affect sporting performance at an elite level.

Speaking following the visit, the course's tutor Steven Rawes thanked the striker for his contributions and admitted that the experience of speaking with a figure who boasts first-hand experience will prove to be invaluable for those involved.

"It was a pleasure to have Joe on board with one of our classes," he said. "The session provided the students with a unique interactive experience with a well-respected first team footballer who was able to offer an insight into the life and workings of a professional player."

"The students and myself are very grateful for the support of Joe and Bolton Wanderers for the benefit of the students' education here at Canon Slade."

TIERNEY SURPRISES LIFELONG WANDERER

Marc Tierney visited the headquarters of Warburtons earlier this month to participate in the retirement celebrations of long-standing worker Derek Ainsworth.

A man who has been involved in the company for over 40 years, Derek began his affiliation with Warburtons as a teenager and has since been instrumental in the construction of various bakeries and depots.

A lifelong Wanderers supporter and former amateur footballer, he was honoured by his colleagues, friends and family at the company's main office with Tierney making a surprise appearance to present him with a signed shirt by the current squad and hospitality tickets for the Whites' final game of the season against Birmingham City.

Everybody associated with Bolton Wanderers would like to wish Derek an enjoyable retirement.

Over £18,000 Raised For Grassroots Football

At our recent home game against Barnsley, Wanderers welcomed guests from five local football clubs to enjoy a day of hospitality as a reward for the hard work they have put into raising much needed funds through BWFC's popular 'Club Together' scheme.

Our guests included representatives from Eagley JFC, Horwich St Mary's, Moss Bank Blues, Oxford Grove and Little Lever Sports Club - these five clubs were the top 'Cash Back' earners for the 2013/14 season and were presented with their cheque by Wanderers' goalkeeper Adam Bogdan, club mascot Lofty the Lion and the club's Group Sales Executive, Daniel Scott.

The 'Club Together' scheme, in conjunction with the Lancashire FA, allows local football clubs, schools, charities, youth groups and universities the opportunity to purchase match tickets at a discounted rate, with £4 from each ticket purchased awarded back at the end of the season.

We have sold in excess of 5,500 match day tickets and clubs have raised well over £18,000 this season.

Not only have we had local teams and groups through the turnstiles enjoying match day experiences this season, we have also welcomed groups from across the globe from countries such as Australia and the United States of America.

Together, these groups have experienced some of our match day activities which include pre-match coaching sessions over at Bolton Arena, stadium tours, 'Wanderers Flags' in the centre circle before kick-off and post-match player appearances.

We thank all who have booked tickets through the group schemes for the 2013/14 campaign and we look forward to having you back with us next season.

For more information regarding group tickets, please visit our website www.bwfcclubtogether.co.uk, contact Daniel Scott via email groupsales@bwfc.co.uk or by calling 01204 673 653.

HAYDEN WHITE

HAVING SWAPPED HILLSBOROUGH FOR THE REEBOK STADIUM IN THE SUMMER OF 2013, THE CURRENT CAMPAIGN HAS CERTAINLY BEEN ONE TO REMEMBER FOR 19-YEAR-OLD FULL-BACK HAYDEN WHITE.

THE BIG INTERVIEW

A regular for the club's under-21 side throughout the season, London-born White was handed a baptism of fire back in January of this year as he made his professional debut at Loftus Road against Queens Park Rangers. A highly-rated prospect who has quickly developed a reputation for his determined and professional approach to the game, the defender recently sat down with the official matchday programme to offer an insight into his life and career so far.

So Hayden – where did it all start for you?

I guess I started out like most footballers do, playing football down the park with my dad and cousins – we were down there any opportunity we got, on weekends and in the evenings.

I was a Charlton fan growing up too, so I made quite a few trips to The Valley when I was younger to watch them play. Like any kid, I just loved football in any shape or form.

It wasn't until I was about nine that I started playing for a team – I suppose I was a bit of a late starter in that respect, but once I'd gotten involved it just all went from there.

Who was the first team that you played for?

I joined my local team who were called Thamesmead Town and I ended up staying there until I was about 15.

I was obviously at school at the same time, so I just played for them on the side and loved every minute of it.

I was just happy to be playing, but then out of the blue I was scouted by Charlton and they took me into their academy which was a dream come true, being a childhood fan of the club.

At the time it was a great opportunity for me, but unfortunately I got released at the end of the season which was disappointing.

I was playing for their under-15 team on a regular basis but for one reason or another, it just didn't work out there.

It was a set-back, but my dad really drummed into me that other opportunities would come my way and luckily for me they did.

Where did your career take you next then?

I actually ended up at Stoke shortly after which was a bit of a distance from London! I played in a trialist game and after that, they initially asked me to go up to Stoke for a week but I actually ended up staying there for three months.

I was waiting to see if Stoke were going to offer me a deal, but I ended up playing in a game against Sheffield Wednesday – it was seemingly a case of being in the right place at the right time, because Wednesday came up to me after the match and said that if Stoke hadn't offered me anything, they would give me a scholarship.

I spoke with Stoke and they were quite open and honest with me by saying that they couldn't guarantee anything with me, so in the end I made the decision to move to Wednesday.

It was at Sheffield Wednesday where you made your name in the Owls' defence. Have you always been a full-back?

I've actually only reverted to that position about half way through last season – up until then, I'd always been a winger, but Dave Jones and the under-21 coach Lee Bullen at Sheffield Wednesday asked me if I'd ever tried playing deeper and it just stemmed from there.

I've always enjoyed getting forward and trying to score, but I've settled in quite well in this position and seem to be doing okay too.

There's certainly been a lot of change in your short career – was it difficult to move up to Sheffield at just 16?

It was a bit of a culture shock to begin with – my accommodation wasn't the best in Sheffield and I ended up moving around a couple of times which doesn't help when you're trying to settle somewhere.

Generally though, the move didn't really faze me. I think it probably helped me grow up a little bit and mature quicker.

In this industry, you've got to make sacrifices and there's no saying that you'll be in one place for any length of time, so I suppose in that respect it was better that I was able to get used to it from an early age.

It was a fairly successful spell for yourself at Hillsborough, with Wednesday offering you a professional contract last summer...

They did, but once I'd heard that Bolton wanted to do the same it was a no-brainer really. I'd loved my time there, but for my career I felt like coming here was the best move for me.

There'd been a few other clubs interested in signing me too, but I had a meeting with Dougie Freedman and the under-21 coach Jamie Fullarton and they told me all about the opportunities that I would have here and how my attributes were exactly what they needed, so I signed a three-year deal.

You were on the move again then!

Yes, but this time I moved into digs with Conor Wilkinson who also plays in the under-21 squad. He joined from Millwall at roughly the same time as I moved up here and he's a great guy.

From my point of view, it's been a pretty good season both for me personally and the team as a whole, but all credit for that has to go to Jamie Fullarton.

The stuff that he does with us day in, day out is unbelievable – he's a fantastic coach to work with and I owe a lot to him.

As a player, he doesn't let you give anything less than 100% whether you're out on the training pitch or actually in a game, but at the age we are, we need to have that mentality.

We're at important stages in our careers, so to have someone like Jamie managing you is only going to help you as you develop and progress.

Despite your tender years though, you were handed your first team debut in quite unexpected circumstances against Queens Park Rangers in January of this year...

Very unexpectedly! I saw Tim Ream go down, and the manager turned around to tell me to warm up.

I was a bit stunned as it had only been 30 seconds of the game, but I guess I didn't really have time to think about the situation.

I feel like I did pretty well and it was a great opportunity for me to show people what I can do – it was a dream come true to finally see all of my hard work pay off.

It was quite daunting to come up against players like Charlie Austin though and QPR were flying at the time.

Ultimately it wasn't the result that we wanted, but I felt like it could have gone either way. At the end of the day though, making my professional debut is something I've dreamt of doing and to finally do so was a proud moment for me and my family.

There was even talk of me making my full debut at Ipswich the following Saturday if Tim wasn't fit enough, but the manager, Curtis Fleming and Jamie spoke to me and explained that if I did have to play, I should just do what I did against QPR.

They told me that they had confidence in me that I could do a job and to go out there and play with no fear which is all you can do in that situation.

Was it an easy transition to slot into the first team set-up?

It was so simple – it honestly felt like I'd been involved with them forever. All the players are great to work alongside and they're constantly there if you need advice on anything or tips on how to improve your play.

The defenders especially with me being around them more have been a huge help this season and I feel like I'm a better player for it.

The bond in the squad is such a strong one and that filters down to the younger sides – the under-21s are always bonding outside of the game and it helps on the pitch.

You're only 19, but you've already experienced so much. What does the future hold for Hayden White?

It's been a whirlwind couple of years, but right now I'm just determined to keep on working hard, pushing on and hopefully next season will be an even bigger year for me.

The club's fans have been fantastic too, especially following my debut when I got so many tweets congratulating me – I really appreciate their support as it gives you a confidence boost and reinforces that you're doing a good job.

The support generally that I've had since I arrived though has been second to none – it's that which has made me into the player I am today and long may it continue.

THE WEEK THAT WAS

April 16, 1989

Wanderers' legend Nat Lofthouse was the Guest of Honour at the annual PFA dinner in London's Hilton Hotel.

At the event itself, the Lion of Vienna received a special merit award in recognition of his dedication to Bolton Wanderers Football Club and to honour his 50 years involved within the game.

April 19, 1975

A man who featured for Bolton on over 500 occasions during a 15 year affiliation with the club, April 19 marks the birthday of Finnish goalkeeper Jussi Jaaskelainen.

Originally brought to the club in 1997 from VPS Vaasa, the shot stopper usurped Keith Branagan to secure the number one jersey and remained the man between the sticks virtually until his move to West Ham United in the summer of 2012.

April 22, 2006

Ricardo Vaz Te scored his first ever top flight goal as Wanderers ran out 4-1 winners over Charlton Athletic.

The youngster struck the opening goal with just 14 minutes on the clock, with Kevin Davies and Jared Borgetti also finding the back of the net in a hectic first period at the Reebok.

The Addicks did snatch a consolation from the penalty spot through Darren Bent late on, but Davies restored Bolton's three goal advantage with a minute remaining to round off a memorable afternoon for the club.

April 17, 1888

The Football League as we know it was formed at a meeting in Manchester, with Wanderers becoming one of 12 founder members alongside the likes of Aston Villa, Blackburn Rovers, Derby County, Everton and Preston North End

The brainchild of William McGregor, this season commemorates the 125th anniversary of the league itself.

April 20, 2013

Goals from Chris Eagles and Marvin Sordell secured Wanderers a 2-1 win over their Middlesbrough counterparts at the Reebok.

Eagles had opened the scoring for the Whites before Kieron Dyer pulled the Riverside outfit level shortly after.

Not to be deterred though, Bolton hit back almost immediately as Chung-Yong Lee won a penalty, with Sordell stepping up to slot the spot-kick home and send Wanderers on their way to all three points.

Dougie Freedman on bwfc.co.uk

"Barnsley were always going to make things difficult for us because their season is far from done. We had to make sure we were at it right from the off. I felt we started the game particularly well and we're happy with the win."

Jermaine Beckford on bwfc.co.uk

"As a striker, it's always nice to score a goal, especially when it's the winner, but ultimately the three points were hard earned and very much deserved."

Danny Wilson on barnsleyfc.co.uk

"They have given us everything today. They've left nothing behind which was what was asked of them. We've not come away with what we deserved which is not a draw - we should have won that game."

WANDERERS 0-1 SOUTHAMPTON

Wanderers' under-18 side slipped to a 1-0 defeat in their final home game of the season against Southampton at Lostock.

After a goalless first half, the visitors proceeded to take the lead from the penalty spot through forward Ryan Seager.

Despite Bolton's best efforts to notch an equaliser inside the closing stages, their hard work was ultimately in vain as the Saints held out for the win.

The Whites started the game brightly and almost had the perfect start as Sam Bailey advanced forward and flashed the ball across the face of goal in the opening minute.

Bailey again produced the goods moments later, but the starting Saul Hamer didn't gamble on the opportunity and the ball went into touch.

With ten minutes gone, Will Abbotts could have put the hosts one up from Elliot Newby's corner but misjudging the ball, the frontman headed wide.

Jason Dodd's side had their first chance five minutes later as Seager struck, but goalkeeper Will Jaaskelainen gathered it.

Christopher Cvetko then produced a moment of magic, splitting the Southampton defence with a left footed volley diagonally to Aaron Knight, but unfortunately it went just over his head and out of play.

With twenty minutes gone, Seager was involved again for the visitors as he helped on defender Jake Flannigan's pull-back to another Jake in Hesketh, but the Bolton back line blocked a shot from just inside the box.

Abbotts came close to an opener on the half hour mark as he controlled the ball delicately and unleashed 25 yards from goal, but the effort went comfortably over for Saints' keeper Andreas Faikla.

Southampton frontman Marcus Barnes received lengthy treatment five minutes from the end which meant an extended stoppage period in which Bolton's Knight fired at Faikla from the edge of box after cutting in from the right hand side of the penalty area.

The final effort of the half came from the hosts as Cvetko and Bailey worked a quick free kick from a desirable position but their shot ultimately culminated in a goal kick after good defensive work from Southampton's back four.

Bolton's Garratt advanced with pace down the left hand side soon after the restart before crossing the ball with venom and troubling Faikla who palmed it out for a corner, but nothing came of the following set piece.

Abbotts was hastily bought down on the edge of box with an hour gone, but Bailey's resulting free kick flew wide of the upright, while Newby was unable to capitalise on the space afforded to him.

The only goal of the game however came against the run of play in the 71st minute as Alex Honeyball upended Flannigan in the area, with the visitors having failed to trouble Jaaskelainen in the Bolton goal until that point.

A killer blow for Wanderers, Seager stepped up to convert the resulting spot kick, sending Jaaskelainen the wrong way to put the Saints a goal to the good.

Bolton threw bodies forward for the final quarter of the tie in a bid to force an equalising goal, but Southampton defended resiliently as they held out for the three points.

Wanderers: Jaaskelainen, Bailey, Garratt, Ball, Honeyball, Kennedy, Knight, Cvetko, Abbotts, Hamer (Torres 80), Newby

NORWICH CITY 5-1 WANDERERS

Wanderers' under-21 side slipped to a 5-1 defeat in their final league outing of the season against Norwich City at Carrow Road.

Zach Clough had opened the scoring early on for the Whites, but the hosts soon overturned the deficit courtesy of a brace from Carlton Morris with Elliott Bennett notching a third before the break.

The visitors did rally following the restart in a bid to pull themselves back into the clash, but Luciano Becchio and Cameron Norman both found the back of the net in the second period to put the result to bed.

Fresh from consecutive victories over Arsenal and West Ham in recent weeks, Wanderers began brightly and were rewarded with just five minutes on the clock as Clough fired home past the Norwich goalkeeper to get the visitors off to the perfect start.

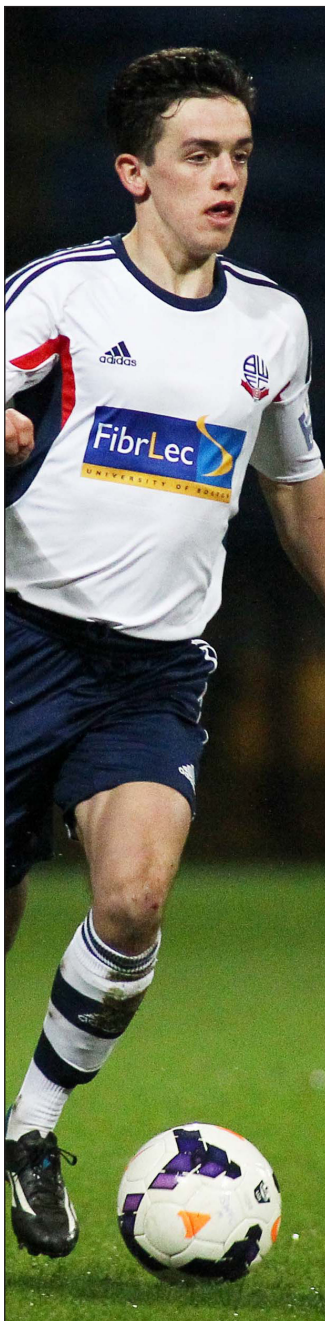

Their lead wasn't to last however, with the home side rallying for an equaliser which came just eight minutes later through Morris who collected Becchio's pass before curling the ball into the top corner of Arran Lee-Barrett's net.

A bitter blow for the Whites, the Canaries were visibly buoyed by their goal and proceeded to complete the comeback moments after with Morris again the man as he rose above the Bolton defence before powering a header home in off the upright.

Despite falling behind, Wanderers were almost back on level terms just after the half hour mark as Hayden White sprinted downfield with just the goalkeeper to beat, but Remi Matthews was equal to the full-back's effort to maintain his side's slender advantage.

A chance which cleared boosted Bolton, Andy Kellett came within inches of an equalising goal straight after as he dragged his effort agonisingly wide of the Norwich post.

As the half time whistle drew near, the hosts found themselves back in the ascendancy with Bennett ensuring that Lee-Barrett was on his guard with a stinging long range effort.

Not to be completely denied however, the Norwich man made no mistake two minutes before half time as he crashed the ball into the top corner of the net to extend City's lead at the break.

Wanderers emerged for the second period with more vigour and were almost rewarded with five minutes gone as Chris Lester collected the ball and found himself in on goal, but the winger slammed his effort into the side netting with the goal at his mercy.

Up the other end of the pitch, Morris almost completed his hat-trick with 53 minutes on the clock as he somehow managed to connect with Ressa Awuah's cross into the box, but the youngster was denied by a superb save from Lee-Barrett.

Despite the Whites' best efforts however, it was soon four for the home side as following a well-worked team move, Norman whipped the ball across the face of the Bolton penalty area with Becchio given the task of tapping the ball into the back of the net.

Not satisfied with just an assist however, Norman was on the scoresheet himself just three minutes later as he unleashed the ball from 25-yards to make it five and put the result beyond doubt.

Wanderers did come close to reducing the deficit as the game headed towards its conclusion with Matthews forced to back-peddle after Adel Gafaiti's clearance rebounded back towards goal, but the keeper was able to clear his lines and preserve Norwich's four goal advantage.

The Carrow Road outfit almost extended their lead in the final minutes of the game as Morris stung Lee-Barrett's hands, but it was in vain as the referee blew for full time.

Wanderers: Lee-Barrett, Maher, Kellett, Threlkeld, Holding, Woodland (Walker 70), Lester, White, Iliev, Clough (Thomas 66), Youngs (Wilkinson 63)

JERMAINE BECKFORD

STRIKER AIMING TO FINISH WITH A FLOURISH

Back in the thick of the action having been sidelined for two months with a hamstring injury, Jermaine Beckford paid tribute to loan duo Lukas Jutkiewicz and the recently departed Joe Mason, claiming that their efforts have ultimately benefited him personally in the long run.

Currently heading up the club's goalscoring charts despite finding himself out of contention for eight weeks with a knock sustained against Nottingham Forest on January 11, Beckford admitted that the arrival of the pair allowed him to focus on returning to full fitness safe in the knowledge that the Whites were still finding the back of the net on a regular basis.

"It's pleasing when the manager brings in players such as Joe and Lukas - they've done so well for the team," he explained.

"In hindsight, it takes the pressure off me on my comeback from injury as we've had boys in the team who've been doing the job upfront.

"I take my hat off to the guys - they've done fantastically. The team were sad to see Joe go back to Cardiff because he's been a great addition to the squad and he's a great kid too, but he's definitely got a bright future ahead of him.

"Of course, it's been hard sitting on the sidelines as I do want to be out there playing, but the boys on the pitch have been doing the job and that's what matters in the grand scheme of things."

Having previously briefly worked alongside a then 21-year-old Jutkiewicz during his spell with Everton during the 2010/11 campaign, Beckford confessed that his fellow striker's pedigree was evident to see even then, despite his tender years.

"With Lukas, he's been fantastic for us since he arrived. He was only very young when he was at Everton, but it was clear back then how talented he was.

"He's a very strong guy and he brings other players into the game with the way he plays - he's a pleasure to work with, to play alongside and he's been a real asset to the team."

Alongside Wanderers' loan acquisitions, the club's top scorer believes that the calibre of the team at present is something which will stand the side in good stead as the season heads towards its conclusion.

"In this team, we have got quality in abundance," he said. "With the manager making quite a few changes against Barnsley in our last home game, the fact that he is able to do that is a testament to the quality that we have within the squad.

"It is a great feeling to know that whichever eleven go out on the pitch are capable of winning a game of football.

"Whenever any of us are called upon to go out there, it's about being selfless, giving your all and doing what you can do for the team - it's a mentality that we all have at this football club and one which we're confident can help us finish strongly and start next season well."

LETTERS GAME

Having recently confirmed their return to the top flight of English football after a ten-year exodus, it has certainly been a campaign to remember for Leicester City and manager Nigel Pearson.

The Foxes set the tone for the campaign early on with seven wins from their first ten matches and aside from a brief dip in form around Christmas, they have kept up a high standard - not only at the King Power Stadium, but also on their travels.

With the two sides having already played out a 5-3 thriller back in December in the East Midlands, tonight's encounter certainly has all the makings of a true classic.

Here are a few things that you may or may not know about the soon to be promoted Foxes.

L is for Long Serving

Graham Cross, Adam Black, Hugh Adcock, Mark Wallington, Steve Walsh, Arthur Chandler, John Sjöberg, Mal Griffiths and ex-Wanderer Steve Whitworth have all appeared in 400 or more games in a Leicester shirt with Lancashire born Walsh from Fulwood going on to be City's club captain as well as operating as a makeshift striker.

E is for England custodians

Two of England's finest ever goalkeepers have kept goal for Leicester City with distinction - Gordon Banks and Peter Shilton.

Banks was part of the England team which won the 1966 World Cup, while Shilton is currently the Three Lions' record cap holder and has achieved the most appearances in Football League history, two of which came at Bolton in 1995.

I is for Ian Marshall

The charismatic utility player has represented both of today's teams, being part of the squad which Martin O'Neill assembled at Leicester in the 1990s that went on to win the League Cup and then at Bolton during the early days of Sam Allardyce's reign when the club won promotion back to the Premier League.

C is for Chandler

In 12 years as a Leicester City player prior to the outbreak of World War II, Arthur Chandler scored 259 goals in 393 games to give him the distinction of being Leicester's highest ever goalscorer.

His former strike partners included Ernie Hine, Arthur Lochhead and Johnny Duncan, all of whom are to this day within the Foxes' list of top goalscorers in their history.

E is for Ever Present

Once Shilton had departed for Stoke City in 1974, the responsibility of goalkeeper was given to his understudy Mark Wallington by manager Jimmy Bloomfield.

Wallington himself boasted previous Football League experience from his time with Walsall so was not overawed and spent six out of his 14 seasons at Filbert Street as an ever present.

S is for Strike Partnership

Much of Leicester City's success this season has been due to the goals scored by David Nugent and Jamie Vardy.

Both have been regular names amongst the goalscorers this year with Nugent currently leading the Foxes' goalscoring chart this term while Vardy remains hot on his heels as the season heads towards its conclusion.

T is for Trio

Two out of three current Bolton players with Leicester connections could come up against the Foxes today.

Striker Jermaine Beckford and centre half Matt Mills are hoping to be in contention, but midfielder Neil Danns will miss out on the action due to the terms of his loan agreement from City.

E is for Emile Heskey

The burly striker began his career with his home club Leicester City before embarking on a big money move to Liverpool in 2000 which was worth around £11 million.

Heskey became a household name in Premier League football for three other clubs over the next 12 years and also played for England in four tournaments, mainly under Sven Goran Eriksson's reign.

R is for Rock Band

Leicester band Kasabian are devoted supporters of their home city team, headed up by singer Tom Meighan with the band's 2009 hit "Fire" being played at the King Power Stadium whenever Leicester score a goal.

Other famous fans of the Foxes include Coronation Street regular David Neilson, ex-player and Match of the Day host Gary Lineker, the Football League show's Manish Bhasin, TV presenter Gary Newbon and X-Factor winner Sam Bailey.

SO FAR THIS SEASON...

After ending their ten-year exile from the Premier League by securing promotion earlier this month, Leicester City will be looking to finish their campaign on a high as they prepare for life in the top flight.

It has certainly been a season to remember for the Foxes. Cruelly denied a place in the Championship Play-Off Final last May, Nigel Pearson's side responded emphatically this year and have been handed their reward with a Premier League berth next term.

The sight of Watford striker Troy Deeney firing past Kasper Schmeichel in the final minute last May, just seconds after Manuel Almunia had prevented Leicester from securing their own place at Wembley by keeping out Anthony Knockaert's spot-kick, will live long in the memory of any football fan.

Leicester had a point to prove coming into the 2013/14 season and the Foxes have undoubtedly done just that with the team ready to celebrate their own promotion come the season's conclusion.

While questions may have been briefly asked following a four-game winless run back in December, since the turn of the year there has been no stopping Pearson's side.

Their defeat against Brighton & Hove Albion earlier this month, having seen their place in the Premier League confirmed just days earlier, was not only their first league loss in 2014, but coincidentally also their first Championship defeat since their last meeting with the Seagulls in early December – an unbeaten run spanning an incredible 21 matches.

While closest rivals Burnley have been able to boast the talents of Danny Ings and Sam Vokes in attack, Leicester's response is just as a deadly with the ever-present David Nugent leading the goalscoring charts while strike-partner Jamie Vardy has also enjoyed a campaign to remember just two years after he was playing in the Conference for Fleetwood Town.

The impact of fellow forwards Riyad Mahrez and Kevin Phillips can also not go unnoticed after both joined the club in January.

Signing on loan from French side Le Havre, Mahrez has impressed since joining Leicester, including his goal in their promotion-clinching clash with Sheffield Wednesday.

Veteran Phillips meanwhile is a man who has now won promotion from the Championship five times with five different clubs.

Set to celebrate his 41st birthday this coming July, the former England international's experience has proven invaluable.

Handed a contract until the end of the season, while his time at Leicester may now be nearing an end, he can leave the club in the summer with his head held high, celebrating another promotion winning campaign.

The faith Leicester have shown in manager Pearson has also proven decisive. His second stint with the club looked set to come to a premature end as recently as late 2012, yet now he will start next season as a Premier League manager.

Already the Foxes' longest-serving boss since their last stint in the top flight, Pearson will now be hoping he can take his side's dominance in the Championship and turn them into an established Premier League force.

STAR MAN

Having fired home the goals that helped Leicester City win promotion to the Premier League this year, David Nugent will be hopeful he can make more of an impact in the top flight with the Foxes than previous spells with Portsmouth and Burnley.

Born on Merseyside, the forward started his career in the Liverpool youth academy but left the club in 2001 after he was not offered a professional contract.

Following his release Nugent joined Bury and would not have to wait long to make his senior debut, coming on as a substitute against Port Vale in March 2002.

Having initially struggled for goals at Gigg Lane, an explosive start to the 2004/05 campaign which saw Nugent find the back of the net 12 times before Christmas, earned the forward a move to Championship side Preston North End in January 2005.

Despite the two-division leap, Nugent carried on where he left off at Deepdale as he scored nine times during his first few months at the club.

His form in front of goal helped Preston reach the Play-Off Final, however, promotion to the Premier League proved a step too far as the Lilywhites lost out to West Ham United.

Nugent continued to enhance his reputation as one of the deadliest marksmen outside the top flight during the 2005/06 season as Preston once again reached the play-offs, only to lose in the semi-finals against Leeds United.

Having been a regular for the England U21s, Nugent's form in front of goal during the 2006/07 season did not go unnoticed as Steve McClaren called him up to the senior Three Lions squad.

Making his international debut as a substitute against Andorra, Nugent managed to mark his maiden appearance with a goal as England ran out 3-0 victors.

After Preston once again missed out on promotion to the Premier League, Nugent joined Portsmouth in July 2007.

However, manager Harry Redknapp made the forward available for transfer mere months after his arrival at the club.

Despite this Nugent stayed at Fratton Park and even managed to end his first season in the top flight with a winners' medal, coming off the bench to help Portsmouth defeat Cardiff City at Wembley to lift the FA Cup.

After 18 months at the club, Nugent managed to score his first Premier League goal in January 2009. However, after still finding first team football hard to come by, the forward joined newly-promoted Burnley on loan at the start of the 2009/10 season.

But after scoring just six times during his time at Turf Moor, Nugent returned to Portsmouth in 2010 after both sides suffered relegation to the Championship.

Finally able to make an impact at Fratton Park in the English second tier, the forward made 48 appearances for Portsmouth during the season, scoring 14 goals.

Back to his best in front of goal, Nugent's return to form earned him a move to Leicester City at the end of the campaign.

A regular goalscorer during his time with the Foxes, Nugent overcame more play-off heartache last season to head up the Foxes' goalscoring charts this term and earn Leicester a return to the Premier League for the first time since 2004.

THE BOSS

After leading Leicester City back into the Premier League for the first time in a decade, manager Nigel Pearson now has his sights set on making the Foxes an established force in England's top tier.

A defender during his playing days, Pearson started his career with non-league Heanor Town before he joined Second Division Shrewsbury Town in November 1981.

After six years with Shrewsbury he joined Sheffield Wednesday in 1987.

Captaining the side as they won promotion to the First Division in 1991, Pearson also put in a man-of-the-match performance as the Owls shocked many by beating Manchester United to win the League Cup final the same year.

Scorer of Sheffield Wednesday's first ever Premier League goal, Pearson also helped the Owls reach both the League and FA Cup final in 1993, but a broken leg suffered in the League Cup semi-final meant he would play no part in either game.

Pearson joined Middlesbrough in 1994 and helped the Teesiders win promotion to the Premier League in his first year with the club – a feat he would repeat in his last year as a professional.

A two-time League Cup and one-time FA Cup runner-up during his time with Boro, Pearson called time on his playing career in 1998.

Embarking on a career in management with Carlisle United shortly after hanging up his boots, Pearson famously helped keep the Cumbrians in the Football League, courtesy of a little help on the final day from goalkeeper Jimmy Glass, before leaving the club in 1999.

Following time as Stoke City's first team coach, Pearson enjoyed assistant manager roles at both West Bromwich Albion and Newcastle United in the mid-noughties, even briefly holding the reins as caretaker manager at both clubs.

In February 2007, Pearson was also confirmed as the new England U21 assistant manager. A month after his appointment, he took sole charge of the side for their first game at the new Wembley Stadium against Italy when manager Stuart Pearce was unable to attend.

Named as the new Southampton manager a year later at a time when the Saints were facing relegation to League One, Pearson managed to guide the team to safety on the final day of the season, at the expense of future side Leicester City. However, he still left the club at the end of the campaign.

Pearson was soon back in management as he joined Leicester City for the first time in June 2008. In his first season at the club, the Foxes secured an immediate return to the Championship as League One champions, before reaching the play-offs the following year.

However, any dreams of back-to-back promotions was quickly quashed as Leicester lost on penalties to Cardiff City in the play-off semi-finals.

Following a strained relationship with owner Milan Mandaric, Pearson left Leicester to become the new Hull City manager in June 2010.

His time away from the Foxes was brief however, as he returned to the club in November 2011 after little over one full season with Hull.

After losing in the play-off semi-finals against Watford last season, Pearson bounced back to lead Leicester to automatic promotion earlier this month, ending the club's ten-year absence from the Premier League.

Having won promotion back to the Premier League, for the first time since 1998, via the Play-Offs the previous year, Wanderers opened their 2001/02 campaign with a trip to top flight veterans Leicester City.

Facing off at Filbert Street, few gave Bolton a chance with the Whites being tipped by many as favourites for relegation. However, come May it would be Leicester who dropped out of the top flight, as Wanderers ensured the Foxes' campaign kicked off in the worst possible way.

Despite this, it was actually the Foxes who started the match the brighter as Matt Elliott went close to finishing Muzzy Izzet's whipped cross.

Bombarded with a number of high balls into the penalty area, Sam Allardyce's side remained strong at the back as they withstood the brief Foxes' flurry, and were soon causing Leicester problems of their own at the other end of the field.

Eager to make up for lost time after three years in the English second tier, Bolton ensured their season would start in the best possible way as the Whites opened the scoring with the first Premier League goal of the year, much to the delight of the 2,000 travelling away supporters.

Coming just 15 minutes into the match, Kevin Nolan leapt highest to connect with Per Frandsen's right-footed cross, with his looping header flying beyond Tim Flowers into the top left-hand corner for the midfielder's first Premier League goal.

Their lead was doubled just over the half-hour mark as striker Michael Ricketts powered his way into the penalty area, muscling his way past Gary Rowlett in the process, before rifling home Wanderers' second goal.

Despite finding themselves behind, Leicester continued to enjoy their fair share of possession. However, with Peter Taylor's side unable to make the most of their time on the ball it came as no surprise when Bolton soon added a third less than ten minutes later.

When the Whites won a free-kick midway inside the Leicester half, Frandsen stepped up to chip the ball into the penalty area with Gudni Bergsson rising highest to flick on the set piece, allowing Nolan to steal in and drill home his second of the afternoon from close-range.

Desperate to regroup and in dire need of the half-time whistle, Leicester looked shell-shocked as the match neared the interval.

However, Wanderers barely gave the Foxes time to breathe as they wasted no time in extending their lead to four goals in first half injury time to give the score sheet an even more convincing feel.

Having already created two goals, Frandsen was already well on his way to securing the man-of-the-match award with the game nearly half over.

Yet that did not prevent the midfielder from making sure he would receive the accolade when the provider turned goalscorer as he added his own name to the score sheet when presented with a free-kick 20 yards from goal.

Duly stepping up to take the set-piece, the Dane managed to beat the wall and slot the ball into the bottom right-hand corner, beyond the grasp of former England international Flowers.

After the fireworks of the first half, the second 45 minutes was bound to be something of an anti-climax, and that is exactly how it proved with any chance of a Leicester comeback unsurprisingly slim.

And despite their best efforts, the Foxes were unable to find any sort of consolation as Bolton happily slowed the tempo with the result virtually in the bag.

Yet that did not prevent the Whites from further extending their lead and compiling further misery on Leicester in the dying minutes as Frandsen followed Nolan's lead by claiming a brace of his own with another free-kick special.

Following another foul by Rowlett, the Dane again stepped up to fire home another spectacular set-piece, once again leaving Flowers with no chance in the Leicester goal.

It sealed a triumphant return to the Premier League for Wanderers, while Leicester in contrast left the field with their tails between their legs.

MENCAP TOURNAMENT SUCCESS FOR BWDFC

Congratulations to the Bolton Wanderers Disability Football Club who finished third in the Mencap Tournament on Saturday 29 March,

An event which was organised by Kev Ball and John Hurst from the Manchester FA, BWDFC had some great results throughout the contest, eventually suffering a 1-0 defeat in the semi-final against Inter St Anne's, a team that play on a regular basis.

Wanderers proceeded to win the third and fourth place play-off following some great saves by the goalkeeper, with it overall being a fantastic team effort which showed commitment to the club from all the players.

Brad Adams, BWCT Coach who managed the team for the tournament commented on the performance of his players and praised their hard work.

"It was a fantastic performance by all the players in the squad," he enthused. "I am looking forward to many more tournaments in the future.

"I would also like to mention Ash, who sustained a serious foot injury during the final game of the tournament – we hope he gets well soon."

Annual Service of Remembrance and Thanksgiving

Tuesday 27 May, 6.30pm

The Annual Service of Remembrance will take place at the Reebok Stadium on Tuesday 27 May, starting at pitch side at 6.30pm and will be conducted by myself.

This will include the laying of a wreath of flowers and the playing of the Last Post in this special year of remembrance.

The service will then continue in the Platinum Suite with music, readings and a period of reflection.

During the service, names of loved ones that have been inscribed in the Memorial Book or engraved on a Memorial Stone during the past twelve months will be read out.

All the names of loved ones to be remembered from previous years will be displayed on the big screen.

Within the service, people will be invited to come forward and light candles in memory of their loved ones, while this year the service will include a moment of remembrance in commemoration of the 100th anniversary of the outbreak of World War I.

This will include a tribute to those involved in the team who were caught up in the war. We shall particularly remember Joe Smith who was our captain at the time and was subject to a gas attack in action.

It is always a very moving occasion and every year the number of those attending increases as people come together to pause and remember their loved ones.

After the service there is the opportunity to look through the books of remembrance and light refreshments will be served.

I look forward to seeing you for this special occasion.

Phil

Help Ellis' Daddy raise £100,000 to find a cure for Ellis

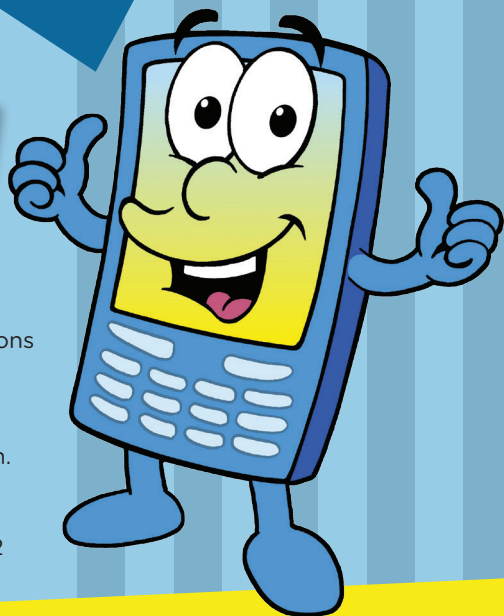

Richard Page is cycling 3,500 miles to all of Leicester City's Sky Bet Championship away games to raise money for his son, Ellis, who suffers from MECP2 Duplication Syndrome

The condition means that Ellis may never walk or talk, and suffers from chest infections and seizures, brought on by epilepsy.

Sky Bet, the title sponsor of the Football League, are backing Richard as he tries to raise £100,000 for the text "ellis" campaign.

With these funds, research can begin into finding a cure for Ellis, after an exciting breakthrough led to the reversal of MECP2 Duplication Syndrome in mice.

BIRMINGHAM CITY

Birmingham City will be the last team to visit the Reebok Stadium on Saturday 3 May in what will be the last weekend of action in the 2013/14 Sky Bet Championship.

Last season, Lee Clark and his side finished in a respectable 12th place in what was only their second term back in England's second tier.

The season before proved more fruitful for the Midlands side, as they ended up in the play-off positions, but lost to Blackpool, who later went on to play West Ham United in the final.

However, the Blues, under former Newcastle United midfielder Clark have found life difficult this year and find themselves languishing in the lower reaches of the league table.

Prior to picking up a crucial win away at Doncaster Rovers at the start of April, City had endured a difficult March, winning only once in seven games.

Defeats to Ipswich Town and Queens Park Rangers were followed by a thrilling draw against high flyers Burnley, before another setback at Sheffield Wednesday.

Sandwiched in between home reverses to Reading and Bournemouth was a victory at Ian Holloway's Millwall, with Nikola Zigic netting the all-important winner.

Before heading to BL6 to take on Dougie Freedman's men, Birmingham will play host to Leeds United and Wigan Athletic in an attempt to steer themselves firmly away from the relegation places.

When the two sides last met back in October at St Andrews, Wanderers prevailed by winning their first game of the campaign.

Goals that day from both Jermaine Beckford and Neil Danns proved the difference in a 2-1 victory for the Whites, despite Lee Novak pulling one back for the Blues.

MANBEHIND THE MIC

Philip Gittins
Wanderers Player commentator

Having endured the roller coaster ride of the 2013/14 football season, with the end now in sight, it is at this stage that we as fans typically tend to reflect on the high and lows of the preceding nine months.

Which was the best performance? Who scored the best goal? During one of our recent broadcasts, the issue of who has been Wanderers' stand out performer this term was raised.

We all have our own opinions of course, but in time honoured tradition here are the players who make up my top three in reverse order.

Invariably, throughout the course of a season it is the match winners and the goal scorers who tend to grab the headlines. Indeed their importance should not be understated, but neither should the value of those performers whose endeavours provide the foundations upon which attacking talent can flourish.

In Jay Spearing, Wanderers possess a talent that is pure gold. Week on week he produces consistent performances, driving on the team with his obvious determination to succeed. Strong in the challenge and disciplined as he diligently fills any holes that develop in front of the Whites back four, the captain has led by example all season.

Second place goes to Lukas Jutkiewicz. During an era of heightened financial constraints, the utilisation of the loan market has become far more prevalent. Used well, this facility can have a positive impact upon a team at vital stages of the campaign.

There can be no better example of this than in our case with Jutkiewicz, whose form since his capture in January has been nothing short of sensational. Irrespective of the system used, he has led the line with strength and aggression, always linking up intelligently with those around him.

Having only been with the club for four months it is a tribute to the 25-year-old that he will undoubtedly figure in the reckoning for a wide range of accolades come the end of the season, mine included, although for me he has just been edged into second place.

That is because of the outstanding form of one man, Tim Ream, who simply has to take pole position. Since he was recalled to the starting line-up for the visit of Leeds in September, our number five has remained ever present.

Demonstrating his versatility as either a centre half or left back, the American international has been a rock in the Whites backline, even playing through the pain barrier with a broken nose sustained against Queens Park Rangers back in January.

Dependable and assured, he has been the consistent component of a Wanderers' rear-guard that has tightened up considerably during the second half of this campaign.

Enjoy the game!
